-- eGistics, Inc. Awarded Contract from Leading Automotive Reseller and Finance Company to Deliver Hosted Enterprise eDocument Storage Solution --

DALLAS, December 20, 2010 -- eGistics, Inc., today announced that it has been awarded a contract by the nation's leading used car and finance company franchise to deliver a hosted enterprise e-document storage solution. The automotive reseller initially will use the eGistics solution to scan and manage contracts received at more than a dozen company-owned locations, and to store HR documents now located at its corporate headquarters. Authorized users will be able to easily scan, search for and rapidly retrieve electronic documents. Significantly, the eGistics hosted e-documents storage system will integrate with the company's core systems to populate searchable document data fields. Starting in February, eGistics will extend the solution to more than 100 additional franchisees.

The eGistics solution will replace the company's on-premise legacy archive. In addition to lowering costs to store documents, moving to a hosted solution will streamline contract processing by enabling corporate-owned dealerships to scan contracts at each location, facilitating collaboration among staff, and speeding access to stored documents. The company also expects the eGistics solution to help improve its compliance and information security measures.

"Today's announcement demonstrates the power of hosted document storage architecture. Multiple dealerships will have the ability to load documents into a single, hosted environment -- eliminating redundant systems and processes and improving information management, reporting and security," said R. Edwin Pearce, executive vice president of sales and corporate development at eGistics. "The combination of rising cost pressures and new customer service requirements is driving demand for hosted storage solutions from corporations, service bureaus and franchise organizations alike."

The eGistics platform is highly secure. It provides powerful administrative functions for managing group and user security and privileges, and is PCI-certified and HIPAA compliant.
